FRANCO-GERMAN MILITARY PACT IS SUGGESTED

The German Chancellor Is Author Of Proposal To Secure France

Lausanne, Switzerland, June 23—(AP)—Chancellor Franz von Papen of Germany today proposed privately a military alliance between France and Germany as a means of meeting France's demand for security before disarmament.

Such an alliance, which would represent the lion and the lamb lying down together in the field of European military affairs, would he said, be the high face the disarmament conference as a result of the French fear of invasion and their security plea.

Speaking English, with a pronounced American accent—he was a German agent in the United States in the early years of the World War—the greying Chancellor added that he was unable to understand the French security pleas, but that he intended to do everything in his power to foster collaboration between the two countries.

For Economic Accord
It was he who prepared the memorandum on economic collaboration which was presented yesterday to Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain by Baron von Neurath, German Foreign Minister. The memorandum proposed a five-year consultative economic pact.

It summarized the reasons why Germany insists she can make no more reparations payments and suggested that all the countries at the conference here agree, for five years to take no steps likely to harm the trade of others without consulting all the other signatories to the pact.

This suggestion, the Chancellor said, he believed fits Premier Herriot's notions of continental business reconstruction.

He said he had sounded the views of other statesmen on his suggestion of a military alliance with France, but did not reveal their reaction to the plan.

Poloite Figures In Fatal Accident

(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo, June 23—Howard Dennis of this city, who operates a taxi and transfer service, was severely injured late yesterday afternoon on Harlem avenue in Chicago, where he was delivering a load of cattle to the stock yards. While driving toward Chicago on the Harlem road, according to reports received here this morning, a sedan driven by Mrs. William Novak of Oak Park, attempted to pass his truck at a high rate of speed.

The sedan skidded on the steel rails of a street car track and swerved directly in front of the truck. Both machines crashed and Mrs. Novak was thrown through the windshield and received fatal injuries. She was rushed to a hospital at Oak Park where she passed away last evening. Her car was almost demolished.

Mrs. Dennis sustained a cut on the head, which required twelve stitches to close, was cut under one eye and sustained several broken ribs. She was also taken to the hospital where her injuries were dressed and was released last night, but remained for the inquest which was to be held today. Her truck was also badly damaged and the cattle were transferred to another truck and taken to the yards.

Wales Is 38 Today: Is Still Bachelor

London, June 23—(AP)—Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, celebrated his thirty-eighth birthday today, still the world's most eligible bachelor, in spite of a fortnight's expressed in Britain a few weeks ago today that there might be a Princess of Wales on his next birthday.

In contrast with recent birthdays when his schedule of work and engagements has been followed as usual, he decided to take a day off today. The only task he assigned himself was to read the thousands of congratulatory messages that poured in from all corners of the world.

He left behind him a busy year when he awoke this morning to realize he was 38.

During it he has taken up motor-bus racing, made a hole in one, been badly shaken up in an automobile accident, become a book collector, taken up cycling, led the world in the wearing of berets, and suffered several days illness.

FARMERS WILL SPONSOR GREAT PICNIC JULY 4

Furtherance Of Farm Relief Program Is Object Of Meet

Preparing to carry out a portion of a gigantic program launched at Decatur last week by Earl Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, members of the Lee County Farm Bureau and business men of the county assembled at Amboy last evening at which time the proposed plan for farm relief was presented and a committee appointed for Lee county to carry out the program.

The principal speaker of the evening was John Watson, tax expert of the Illinois Agricultural Association, who voiced his disapproval of the manner in which Congress had tried to rectify the economic ills and then presented organized agriculture's plan for the relief of the rural communities by stopping the decline of farm commodity prices and thereby ending the depression.

This relief plan is embodied in bill No. 12,649 which was introduced in Congress by Representative Rainey of Illinois last week. Lee county's part of the program is to back up their organization by increased membership in the local farm bureau organization and by a great county demonstration which will be held at Assembly park in Dixon on July 4. Similar demonstrations are to be held in all of the counties of the state on the same day. Agriculture will voice its approval of this bill and hopes to effect its passage. Other outside speakers of the evening were Mr. Bunting of the I. A. A. staff and Mr. Cummings of the Illinois Grain Corporation.

Dixons Pledge Aid
President Frank Stephan of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce was present and voiced his approval of the plan and promised the complete cooperation of the local organization in the program of the demonstration and county celebration at the Assembly park of July 4.

Manager Ragan of the World Wide Christian Couriers, leasing the Assembly park this season, likewise promised the support of that organization in helping with this celebration. It was the consensus of the leaders of both the country and the towns that agriculture must be put on its feet if this depression is to be ended, and it is the hope of the leaders of both groups that both the farmer and the business man will lend their every effort to this movement.

Farmers of Illinois should arouse themselves to the need of an organized stand to obtain their rights and to protect their interests and should dedicate themselves and their resources to bring about better prices, fairer profits and justice in taxation.

THOUSANDS TO JOIN IN SONG AT EUCHARISTIC

A Great Service For Men On Program In Dublin

Dublin, June 23—(AP)—Massed in military formation before the high altar in Phoenix Park, a quarter of a million men will lift their voices under the stars tonight in one of the most inspiring moments of the Eucharistic Congress.

It will be strictly an affair for men only. The singing will be led by a special choir of men and carried to the vast congregation through a microphone system.

Cardinal Lauri, the Papal Legate, will preside at the meeting, and at its conclusion pass among the battalions.

A solemn pontifical high mass at 12:30 A. M. and another at 11 o'clock this morning were the religious high spots of today's program. But the thousands of visitors spent a busy day with meetings for each nationality and general meetings at which the theme was the doctrine of the Eucharist—the bodily presence of Christ in the Blessed Sacrament—which is the central foundation of the Eucharistic Congress.

Tomorrow's arrangements include a pontifical high mass, more sectional meetings, and a great mass meeting for women in the evening.

MANY DROWNED BY TIDAL WAVE IN WEST MEXICO

Coast Towns Wiped Out: Full Extent of Toll Unknown

Mexico City, June 23—(AP)—Mexican relief agencies were concentrated today on the task of alleviating the suffering of thousands of people in towns along the west coast which were virtually wiped out yesterday by a tidal wave that took a toll of two score lives.

An accurate check of the situation was not possible today because of the disorganized condition of the territory.

Colima reported that the known number of injured there was 62, but it could not be determined how many lives were lost.

Governor Salvador Saucedo of the state of Colima left today for Cuyutlan, where the wave struck hardest, to take charge of the situation. Before he left he called Mexico City to appeal for public aid.

He said the death toll at Cuyutlan, a resort town, who had passed forty with additional missing and more than 100 injured. The wave was preceded by sharp earthquake shocks.

Two relief trains left here for Cuyutlan. The first train evacuated 1,400 persons from the town.

The Governor reported the tidal wave swept inland for more than a mile over an 18-mile front, leveling everything in its path.

Two minor earthquakes preceded the heavy temblor which ushered in the wave and aroused the inhabitants, many of whom fled to the beach for safety. There the tidal wave trapped them, sweeping many inland to death or outward into the sea.

STREATOR BANK ROBBERS' TRIAL SET FOR JULY 11

Men Are Given Copies Of Indictments When Arraigned In Court

Ottawa, Ill.—The men under arrest for the $53,000 robbery at the Union National bank at Streator last month and the two Chicago men under arrest as members of the gang who released three of the Streator robbers in a gun raid at the LaSalle county jail last week were arraigned before Judge Frank H. Hayes in the circuit court Tuesday morning and furnished with copies of the indictments which the June grand jury returned against them.

Jack Sherman and Jack Meyers who were arrested in Chicago by Sheriff E. J. Walker, last Thursday as members of the gang that effected the jail delivery, were the first two arraigned. There was an atmosphere of electricity in the air and far greater than the ordinary precaution was used by the sheriff in transporting his prisoners from the jail to the county building and back again.

They were brought to the court house in an auto under the guard of the sheriff and three deputies, to prevent members of the gang who are still at large from attempting to liberate them. In the court the pair made a plea not for mercy but for permission to notify their friends that they were under arrest and in jail in Ottawa.

Would Notify Friends
"Your honor, I want my friends in Chicago notified," said Sherman in addressing the court. "These bonds I am under are very excessive," he continued, referring to the $300,000 bonds under which Judge Edgar Edgerdale ordered him held Saturday when grand jurors returned indictments against him and Meyers, charging them with kidnapping Gilbert Mitchell, Marshall resident, who was kidnapped by the bandits after the jail delivery, on charges of robbery with a gun and on charges of aiding prisoners in escaping from the county jail.

Judge Hayes did not ask the prisoners to enter a plea, but informed them that their case was coming up for trial July 11, and offered to appoint attorneys to defend them.

"I might just as well be my own attorney as to have the court appoint someone to defend me," replied Sherman, who demanded an earlier trial than July 11, made a plea that his health was very bad and told the judge he had a bullet in his back.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO RECEIVE CASE IN WHICH REV. WARREN GOT $10,000 VERDICT

Springfield, Ill., June 23—(AP)—Rev. John A. Logan Warren, former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Durand, today definitely won his libel suit against former members of his church who caused his retirement at home.

The Supreme Court refused to receive the case, thereby effectively affirming the opinion of the Appellate Court which upheld a $10,000 judgement against Judd Van Sickle, Albert E. Swinson, George Fritz, Edgar Best, and Henry Graham.

In securing the Supreme Court's action, closing the case, counsel for the minister pointed out that at no time had the girl been produced in court to tell her own story. Judgement first rendered against the conspirators was $20,000 and at the second trial the amount was reduced to $10,000.

It was charged that they con-

Uncle Sam To Fight To Keep Postal Business

Washington, June 23—(AP)—Alert to plans for avoiding new high postage rates, the government is going to insist on its right to the monopoly of carrying letters.

The increase in postage rates from 2 to 3 cents, effective July 6, has caused public utility companies and other organizations using the mails to distribute their monthly bills to other means. In some cities use of men now unemployed has been suggested.

The increased postage and the tax on bank checks, with which many bills are paid, are said by business men to involve a contribution of 11 cents on each bill paid by mail with a check. At that rate every 100,000 bills would mean a contribution of $11,000 to the government. Hiring private carriers at modest wages would save money for both the companies and their customers, they say.

The Post Office Department, however, points out the postal laws do not permit anyone to enter into competition with the postal service in carrying letters. There is no objection to a company using its own employees for deliveries, but two or more companies will not be allowed to use the same employee, nor hire a messenger or other delivery service to deliver their bills.

"PAST LIFE" OF MYRTLE PIERRE IN COURT FIGHT

Accuser Of Aimee's Husband Defends Her Character

Los Angeles June 23—(AP)—Defense attorneys today hoped to learn more details of the "past life" of Myrtle Joan St. Pierre, twice-married, 30-year-old nurse who seeks $200,000 from David Hutton for alleged breach of promise.

To the aid of the choir singer and husband of Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, Evangelist, they have summoned several men, whom the pretty nurse admitted she knew.

Steadfastly trying to pick flaws in her story that Hutton betrayed her under promise of marriage the defense met opposition on each of the "past life" questions from Miss St. Pierre's attorneys.

"I had a right to defend my character," Miss St. Pierre shrieked in a shrill voice bursting into tears and temporarily interrupting the grilling cross-examination. Superior Judge Lester Roth restored order.

Miss St. Pierre admitted, under questioning of defense counsel, she was born "Myrtle St. Peters" and that she had used the names of "Jean Deville," "Hazel" and "Joan" as well as the two previous marriage names Mrs. H. H. Harrington, Jr. and Mrs. George Street. Her testimony was frequently interrupted by heated clashes between attorneys.

Economists Study Farmers' Problem

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—Economists from the nation over came to the University of Chicago campus today for a three-day consultation to find, if possible, a preventive for the economic sufferings of the farmer in the laboratory of discussion.

Representing some of America's leading institutions of learning, the federal and state governments and the science of agricultural economics, they strove through exchange of ideas and experiences to do for the farmer economically what the science of medicine has done for humanity physically.

It was the second annual conference on economic policy for American agriculture, and Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, young President of the University of Chicago, welcomed the visitors to the campus.

The conference set to work this morning by attacking the farm problems from the standpoint of tax reform and the speakers were Dr. B. H. Hibbard of the University of Wisconsin and Prof. S. E. Lenz of the University of Chicago.

CHICAGO NEVER HAD A CHANCE TO GET MONEY

Mayor Cermak Talked Disgustingly On Return From West

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—Chicago "never had a chance" for relief through Congress or the Reconstruction Corporation, Mayor Antonio J. Cermak observed today on his return from Washington and New York.

He said Congress was too interested in the coming Democratic national convention to heed the city's plea for a loan to pay its employees.

"We never had a chance," said Cermak. "When we got to Washington, we found the big interest was in the Democratic convention. Everybody was playing the good old game of politics and we were told that if the law creating the Finance Corporation was amended to permit loans to states and cities, both Republicans and Democrats would vote against it."

"We were told by the Finance Corporation that it would not accept an application for a loan by a state or city until the law was amended, and we were politely informed that we could have a social chat with the members of the Finance Corporation but that we could not expect any aid." He expressed the belief that the only thing left was to call the local bankers together to renew the city's plea for a loan.

Washington, Mayor Cermak averred, is "more interested in party success than in providing relief for the public" and he thought Congress might as well go home. He added that Rep. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, House majority leader, was of no aid to the Chicago relief delegation.

Garfield Replies To Senator Borah

Washington, June 23—(AP)—An attempt to offset Senator Borah's violent opposition to the Republican platform and its prohibition declaration was seen today in a new statement from James R. Garfield defending the party's campaign utterance.

Chairman of the committee which drafted that platform, Garfield not only argued strenuously the points made by the Idaho Senator against the resubmission plank, but expressed regret that Borah was unwilling to continue giving "his thought and ability toward a constructive, forward-looking program."

Garfield denied the convention or his committee were packed with office holders, and maintained that one quarter of the office-holding delegates, numbering less than 70, voted against the plank adopted, showing that, contrary to Borah's argument, the delegates did vote from their convictions and not out of political expediency.

Says Wet Are Set For People's Vote

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., fighting prohibition leader, says the allied dry forces are as willing "as the wettest of the wet to have the people speak on prohibition."

Arriving here yesterday en route to Iowa, the Methodist Episcopal Church (South) official announced the dries would make as determined a fight for a straight enforcement plank at the Democratic convention as they did at the Republican.

"Then we will take it to the country," he declared. And the results, he said, will be "surprising."

"You will find," the Bishop predicted, "that the country isn't controlled by the wet states and that the folks back home will have something to say."

He plans to return to Chicago for the convention.

Saved From Death: Faces New Danger

Evansville, Ill., June 23—(AP)—Snatched from death through carbon monoxide poisoning after a 98 hour fight by science, Mrs. Gertrude K. Bemis today was confronted with a new danger—pneumonia.

Physicians announced the disease set in yesterday shortly after an inhalator that kept Mrs. Bemis alive with 136 tanks of oxygen since last Saturday had been removed.

The attack of pneumonia, said Dr. Dennis Crile, was not particularly serious but with her resistance weakened, serious consequences could develop.

Volunteer firemen and physicians worked day and night throughout the 98 hours to keep Mrs. Bemis alive after she was found unconscious from carbon monoxide fumes at the wheel of her car in the garage Saturday.

Dixon Chief's Memory Is Too Much For Riley

The remarkable memory of Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber caused James Riley, alias John Marsh, some humiliation for a brief time this morning. Riley was arrested last night by the police along the belt line in the east city limits, where he had selected a rail for a pillow. This morning he was arraigned on a charge of intoxication.

When Chief Van Bibber looked the stranger over he remarked: "I know you," to which the prisoner lost no time in responding, "No you don't, because I have never been here before."

After a pause the Chief refreshed his memory and then confronted the man with the following: "You are James Riley, a former paroled convict, who while working at the Dixon state hospital about 15 years ago was arrested in Chicago with another paroled convict, John Foster, for the theft of an automobile belonging to the chief clerk at the institution. The last time I saw you was on the elevator in the Harrison street police station in Chicago after Judge Barracci had sentenced you and Foster for one year for the theft of the car."

The quick identification stopped Riley's excuses and he willingly told his story. He told Chief Van Bibber that he served 14 years for violation of parole and the theft of the car and was released from Stateville Tuesday morning. He came by bus direct to Dixon. A telephone message to the Warden's office at Joliet confirmed Riley's story. His companion, Foster, died some time ago in prison, Riley told the chief.

Before being released from the penitentiary, Riley was given a complete new outfit of clothing and ten dollars. When arrested all of his money was gone and his coat was missing. He was unable to account for his actions from yesterday afternoon until he awoke in the police station last night. A fine was suspended and Riley left for other parts at noon today.

ROCK ISLAND'S VICE WAR CITED IN HIGH COURT

Former City Attorney J. H. Scott Given Reinstatement

Springfield, Ill., June 23—(AP)—Supported in his plea by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, county officials of Rock Island and the Rock Island Bar Association, John H. Scott, 60, former Rock Island City Attorney, was reinstated as a member of the bar by the Supreme Court today. He was disbarred eight years ago in the disturbance created by the Rock Island vice ring war.

After viewing the conviction of the then Mayor and Chief of Police as conspirators, Scott said he knew that the same "incompetent evidence" would be introduced against him, so instead of waiting for that he suffered a $2,000 fine and resigned. That was eight years ago.

Since then all the indictments against other defendants have been quashed, and he then Mayor Scott said, has continued to practice law, unhindered the whole time. He called on the Supreme Court to accept his explanation that a big mistake had been made, and that he affirmed his innocence of any wrong then, and has continued to do so since. He declared that the case against him on insufficient evidence was pushed through by the special Attorney General's assistant sent there to prosecute the case, which was made to include the William Gabel and John Looney murder cases.

Regarding the Gabel murder he said, "all evidence was incompetent. Nothing was introduced connecting it with the charge of which the plaintiffs were on trial. The theory that any one of the plaintiffs was involved in the Gabel murder rests wholly on conjecture. Circumstances were suspicious but nothing more."

Activities Of Women In Camps Of Democrats

By MARGUERITE YOUNG
Chicago, June 23.—(AP)—Three young Roosevelt rosters, one of whom campaigned spectacularly for Al Smith-for-Governor 12 years ago, today joined a gallery of Presidents' kin curiously aligned along headquarters row of the Democratic convention.

Anna Roosevelt Dahl, blonde daughter of the present New York Governor, arrived last night with her brother, James, and his wife. They came just for the fun of it, and incidentally, to run errands and do whatever handshaking might help the leading candidate for the party's nomination for President.

The first thing that Anna heard was that Emily Smith Warner is entering the Al Smith-for-President camp, probably tomorrow. "Oh, fine!" she exclaimed. "It will be nice to see her again—we did a lot of campaigning together in 1924, you know."

She referred to journeying over New York state with Mrs. Warner, 30-year-old daughter of the "happy warrior" candidate. At that time the two girls drew widespread attention. Their equine was a big auto supporting an even bigger teapot-symbol of the oil scandals from which they were manufacturing ammunition to shoot at their common political enemy, the Republican candidate.

In another hotel William Gibbs McAdoo explained that the 17-year-old granddaughter of the last Democratic President, is "just a spectator."
But Mr. McAdoo naturally affirmed that both his daughter and his wife, President Wilson's daughter, would do some handshaking on behalf of John Garner for President.

Woodrow Wilson's widow will be here too, occupying a non-factional place of honor, indeed the same personification of party unity she has been at every post-war convention.

These first-family connections occupied the foreground as women worked actively in the pre-convention campaigns. More than 500 delegates, alternates, and committee-women are expected to be present at the showdown.

Only one other individual equalled these in interest, Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, traditionalist in her role of wife, stayed close to her husband—except when he was getting down to brass tacks on the nomination.

"Of course he would be a fine President," she said, "and why shouldn't I say so when everybody else is saying it?"

But that was just what the other relatives seemed to think of their candidates' prospects. Anna Roosevelt was ready for "real campaigning," in fact and so is young Mrs. James Roosevelt, who grew up as a Republican, in Boston. They will have another Roosevelt, another son, with them by the week end and, should Franklin Roosevelt get the nomination, both he and Mrs. Roosevelt—a niece of President Theodore Roosevelt—likely will come here to start the campaign.

In the meantime James had to go see Al Smith. For James is covering the convention for a Boston newspaper, and his first request was for an interview with his father's opponent.

Savory Salads Are Good Tonics

Salads in the spring and summer are a delightful and stimulating dish for both men and women. The crisp, cool, inviting appearance of these salads makes them naturally appetizing.

Especially at this time of year are salads essential and in harmony with the season. They supply in a delightful fashion the lighter foods that our systems ask for, and they arouse the appetite for winter foods. Then, by no means their least recommendation is that they are the world's best known spring tonic.

Salads, green-leaf vegetables and fresh fruits are important in the diet, because they have the essential vitamins, minerals salts and roughage necessary to keep our systems in trim.

Fresh Vegetable Salad

1 cup cooked string beans, cut in short pieces
1-2 cup cooked lima beans
1 cup vinegar
1-2 cup cooked carrots, diced
1-2 cup cooked peas
1 cup cooked asparagus stalks, cut in short pieces
1-4 cup double-whipped mayonnaise
3-4 cup cooked beets, diced
Combine string beans and lima beans with vinegar, and chill 15 minutes. Season carrots, peas and asparagus with salt, white pepper, and Cayenne. Add to first mixture and toss lightly together with mayonnaise. Arrange crisp lettuce on large salad plate, place beets in small mounds around the edge, and pile salad lightly in center. Garnish with asparagus tips.

Cucumber Supreme Salad

3 medium sized cucumbers
2 tomatoes
3 stalks celery
1 head lettuce
Double-whipped mayonnaise
Peel the cucumbers, cutting them in two lengthwise, and scraping out the seeds. Peel and chop the tomatoes. Dice the celery. Mix together, and add a few drops of onion mixture. Arrange on lettuce leaves. Thin slices of radishes with the red skin left on make a pretty garnish.

Miss Kelly in Review Goodman Theatre

Miss Lucille Kelly of Dixon has been studying the past six months in advanced work with the Keith School of Dance and Theater in Chicago.

Last evening at the Goodman Theater, Art Institute, the school presented a Spring Review of dancing, singing and dramatic art. One of Miss Kelly's numbers in which she had the solo part, was staged as a beautiful tropical scene in Hawaii, accompanied by girls and boys in dance and song in native costumes, the boys playing guitars, the scene going big. Miss Kelly's school and recitals in Dixon were successful and she expects to return here later.

A PARALLEL CASE FOR GERMANY.

Probably history never exactly repeats itself, but now and then it comes close enough to give nervous shudders.

Right now students of the European situation are asking themselves if Republican Germany is about to follow the course steered by Republican France in 1848. There are two or three little indications that it may; and, if it does, all a lover of peace can do is pray that history will repeat itself so far but no farther.

In 1848 France was a republic. Napoleon Bonaparte had been gone for more than three decades, and with him had gone—as Frenchmen saw it—all of the glory and prestige that France had had under the first empire.

So, in that year, the French elected as their president Prince Louis Napoleon, nephew of Bonaparte. The election came as a climax to a turbulent year of revolution—a year not greatly unlike that which Germany is living through now. And shortly after his election, Louis Napoleon changed France from a republic to an empire and had himself proclaimed emperor.

The emperor then led his nation into an erratic foreign policy that culminated in the France-Prussian War, in which France suffered a crushing defeat and almost declined to the position of a second-class power.

The parallel with modern Germany is inescapable. Germany has lost her emperor, as France had lost her Napoleon. Hard times have followed his departure. The power and the glory that the nation knew under him have flitted over the horizon. A powerful clique of army officers and aristocratic land-owners wants the monarchy restored, precisely as was the case in France in 1848.

Furthermore, it is constantly reported that the son of the ex-emperor, the former Crown Prince William, will seek the presidency of Germany shortly, with Von Hindenburg resigning to make way for him. William does not deny it. It is an open secret that the Junkers want him to.

What would happen then? Restoration of the Hohenzollern monarchy, a fight to regain the lost "place in the sun," a new war with France—the possibilities are ominous. We can only hope that in this instance history will not come close to repeating itself.

STEEL PRICES AND PROSPERITY.

An interesting commentary on the chances for a return of prosperity in the near future is provided in a current bulletin from the Alexander Hamilton Institute, which estimates that the steel trade cannot revive until there is a 31 per cent reduction in steel prices.

In 1921, the institute points out, the steel industry slashed prices so heavily as to offset the increase in the value of the dollar. These bargain prices led to a flood of new orders which eventually brought the industry to a record high production; and the steel industry for years has been regarded as a barometer for American industry in general.

In this depression, however, steel prices have declined only 13.5 per cent from the 1929 peak, although the average price of all commodities has gone down 32 per cent. Barring inflation, the institute asserts, the steel trade cannot revive unless it brings prices down very materially.

THE PERPLEXING SHARPE CASE.

The perplexing Lindbergh tragedy seems to have grown more puzzling, rather than less so, as a result of the suicide of Violet Sharpe, maid in the Morrow home; and once again there is borne in upon the casual observer the feeling that the investigation into this case has been woefully bungled.

At first this girl's suicide looked like a tacit confession of guilt. But it has become more and more evident, as the days have passed, that it was anything but that; and the theory that an innocent girl had been harassed to the point of desperation by heavy-handed police tactics has been given voice in no less a place than the British House of Commons itself.

The discovery of the murdered child's body close to a spot where scores of police had been on duty for weeks; the fiasco of the Curtis case; the tragedy of Violet Sharpe—these things constitute a record which no police department could be proud of.

A SANE IDEA.

One of the sanest ideas to prevent improper manipulation of stocks on the stock exchange seems to be that voiced before a Senate committee the other day by Professor William Z. Ripley of Harvard who suggested that big corporations be required to open their books for public inspection.

Although this may seem, on the surface, a radical suggestion, its value becomes apparent when you stop to think of the way unscrupulous triggers of the market can and do force stock values up or down because of inside information on a company's financial condition.

The gentle custom of unloading on the suckers a big block of stock in a formerly prosperous concern which is about to pass a dividend would be a little harder to accomplish if Professor Ripley's plan were adopted.

ALEX WINTON, PIONEER AUTO MAKER IS DEAD

Started Manufacture Of Cars Away Back In Year Of 1895

Cleveland, June 22—(AP)—One of the most famous men of the automotive industry, Alexander Winton, Sr., who was generally known as the first commercial manufacturer of an automobile, died at his home here last night at the age of 72. He had been ill two weeks.

Long before the world ever dreamed the part automobiles were to play in modern life, Winton was building cars in a little Cleveland factory and his first automobile was running on the streets of this city as early as 1895.

Winton accumulated a large fortune in succeeding years, much of which he spent in wide and successful experiments for improvements. For many years his Cleveland factory manufactured automobiles but suspended this business in 1924.

The pioneer manufacturer was born in Grangemouth, Scotland, and came to Cleveland in 1885 as superintendent of the Phoenix Iron Works. He later started the Winton Bicycle Co. and then progressed into the automotive field.

Mr. Winton was married four times. His first two wives died. He married the third, Miss Marion Campbell, a composer of American operas, in 1927, after an elopement to Covington, Ky. They later were divorced. He married for the fourth time in 1930, taking as his wife the former Mrs. Mary E. Avery, who survives him. Six children by his first wife and one by the second also are living.

J. H. HELLER, EDITOR OF THE DECATUR (IND.) DEMOCRAT, SAYS:

THAT the only man who wins is the one who keeps his chin out, a big grin on his face and determination in his heart.

The depression is bouncing on the bottom and in those communities where there is a conscientious "pull together" spirit, improvement is manifest now.

Use home made goods and patronize those who are genuine builders. That's always good common sense, and just now is more so than ever. Keep the dollars moving, keep your stock and courage up, advertise, smile, talk optimism. There is no other cure, for not even a hundred billion dollar government plan could eventually save us for the very evident reason that we could have to pay the bill and would be only jumping from the proverbial "frying pan into the fire."

What this country needs most, as the late Thomas R. Marshall would say, is a first class "pep" factory in every community.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world; if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews; but now is my kingdom not from hence—John 18:36.

The man that hath a tongue, I say, is no man, if with his tongue he cannot win a woman.—Shakespeare.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

FROM TAXPAYERS ASSN.

Note—The following communication has been submitted to the Evening Telegraph for publication: To our Honorable Economy Committee, Robert A. Rodesch, George L. Carpenter, Frank C. Sproul, Chairman Co-operating with the Lee County Board of Supervisors.

Greetings: You will preface the following recommendations by your own ideas of what would be most respectful and appreciative of the good work our County Board of Supervisors may have done to lessen the tax load. Yes, appreciative, but FORCEFUL.

This is an emergency. This emergency calls for MEN. Recommendations: 1. 1932 Economy, not what would be economy in such booming years as 1929, and others.

II. EQUAL TAXES. (A) There is too much personal property escaping taxation, as a rule. This must not be. For instance in cities, real estate taxes and personal property taxes should be more nearly equal but the facts are that Real Estate pays something like 85 per cent of all taxes levied. No free people can and will continue to bear such injustice, particularly in a crisis like the present one.

(B) Let everybody help pay the expense of government. Briefly, some form of Sales Tax or Income Tax or both must be encouraged—at least in Resolutions to our Legislature at proper time. And the Sales Tax is the best of all—for it provides daily steady government income—rather than once or twice a year which gives a false sense of resources. This would also help to relieve Real Estate of its unfair load.

III. LOWER TAXES NOW—Present salaries, if paid in 1932, would give a boost of 50 per cent in buying power. Is this "justice?"

(A) Let everybody help to reduce taxes, particularly: 1. The officers of government from the highest to the lowest. And let it be voluntary as nearly as practical.

2. The offices. They each can be adjusted downward at least ONE-THIRD for the dollars we pay into them. They are ONE-HALF MORE VALUABLE today in the necessities than they did last year. The officers will know about this and appreciate what would be economy today. The 5 per cent "cut" our school board gave is a joke. . . . no wonder people have a contempt for a government that uses their money so at such a time as this. We seem to be asleep even yet.

IV. APPROPRIATIONS. The same 1932 Economy should apply here remembering that every dollar should be made to buy at least ONE-HALF MORE (in terms of governmental costs)

BEFORE—AND—AFTER

New York's Greeting to Amelia Earhart

A ride up Broadway—well, that's fine! Cheering crowds. Streamers of ticker tape. The prospect evidently pleased Amelia Earhart Putnam as you see her in this smiling pose at the start of her triumphal ride up New York's Broadway. But—things like that are a bit wearing on the nerves! It's a rather haggard, obviously weary aviatrix who is shown above in another photo taken at the end of her noisy 'parade of welcome.' Looks like she's glad THAT'S all over, doesn't she?

than it has been buying.

Expenditures of these appropriations should be further reduced as the necessities of operation, safety and security of government warrant in an economic emergency of this severity.

V. INCOME FROM OFFICES. Bureau County turned this income into a reserve fund that in 12 years accumulated something like $385,000 showing what economic management may have to do with future county governmental resources.

VI. REDUCTION OF COUNTY TAXES THRU ADJUSTMENT OF SALARIES DOWNWARD TO PRESENT PURCHASING VALUE OF THE DOLLAR. Circuit Judge and office expense. County Clerk and office expense. County Supt. of Schools and office expenses. County Judge and office expense. County Clerk and office expense. County Treasurer and office expenses. County Sheriff and Deputies and office expenses.

State's Attorney and office expenses. Election Boards and office expenses. Township Highway Commissioners and Patrolmen. County Supt. County Farm and Assistants.

County Supervisors. Stenographers. Clerks. VII. ONLY AFTER ABOVE ONE-THIRD DOWNWARD ADJUSTMENT IS ACCEPTED PUBLIC SPIRITEDLY AND VOLUNTARILY CAN A REDUCTION OF SALARY BE CONSIDERED A CUT IN 1932 SALARY VALUES.

For each salary reduce one-third retains at present prices its full purchasing value were voted, and more. We taxpayers would be "delighted" as Theodore Roosevelt would say did we fare half so well.

VIII. OFFICE EXPENSES AND HELP FORMERLY NEEDED. (A) Cut these offices and expenses severely, down or cut or divide time and salaries as per your judgment and authority. Government costs must come down. . . . if the present order obtain or endure. We cannot exist half slave half free now any better than in 1863.

(B) Public printing. County Highway Commissioner and office expenses. County Veterinary and office expenses. Overtime at Election Boards. Lee County Taxpayers Assn. Dixon, Illinois June 13, 1932.

"Twenty-Six Million Reasons for Abstinence."

There are in the United States twenty-six million gasoline automobiles and trucks. Rightly used these are a blessing; wrongly used, a menace spreading death and disaster. The driver of an automobile is required to perform at one time at least five distinct and difficult operations. He must watch the rapidly changing panorama on the roadway ahead, often crowded with many other vehicles running at high speed. He must manage his steering wheel and pilot his car safely through spaces that often allow but a few inches on either side. He must manage the gasoline feed so as to control the terrific power of his machine. He must be prepared to operate the clutch and the brake with instantaneous effectiveness. He must be prepared likewise to operate the gearshift. On the instantaneous and accurate performance of any or all of these operations may depend the lives of himself and of others. The difference between life and death is but a fraction of a second. No one who values human life should be willing to deaden the brain and the nerves with liquor and then to assume the responsibility for driving an automobile upon a public highway. The Amendment should not be repealed, but the law enforced to the limit for protection to human life.

The welfare of the children is a basic reason for total abstaining parents, for alcohol is a degrading and destructive factor in home or community life, and the health and happiness of the future citizens of the nation demand an environment free from the sale and use of intoxicating beverages.

Under the Home Protection Law there are fewer sad little children; the societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children; and there are fewer bad little children say the Children's Courts and the Children's Bureau at Washington. For the sake of the children and humanity give prohibition its chance.

Has it occurred to you what the proposal to bring back beer involves?

To bring back beer would also bring back ninety-two per cent of the liquor trade. Beer did not help the people it made millionaires of brewers, but it made none of the people who drank the beer. It did not bring them health, it did not increase their savings, the ownership of their homes, the comfort of their children or their welfare and self-respect.

To bring back beer would give the brewers once more their old political power. A beer drinking group is a disadvantaged group. Why is any American favorable to the return of beer conditions with the beer? As they are inseparable. Federal Prohibition Director Col. Woodcock asks support of all citizens.

"I think the prohibition laws can be successfully enforced against commercial operations. I ask the support of all citizens. To those who have been making the unlawful traffic possible by affording a market for the liquor, may I suggest simply and in no sense officially—for the decision is yours—is the opportunity to obtain a drink of liquor in an unlawful way comparable in importance to you to the opportunity to contribute to the ideal of a law-abiding nation."

To the great mass of American men and women. I say, give us your sympathy and help. After all, who can object to a fair, honest, and lawful enforcement of a law of the land

W. C. T. U.
(Carrie B. Swarts.)

A BOOK A DAY

The American small town, evidently, is not the only place that gives the creative artist a pain in the neck. The English small town seems to be quite as bad. That, at any rate, is what I gather from reading "Undertow," by A. Hamilton Gibbs.

This is a novel about a young man who taught in a preparatory school in an English village. In his spare moments he was a painter; but school and town combined to stifle his artistic impulses, and the only encouragement he got was from the proprietor of the second-hand book store, who once in a while managed to sell one of his sketches for a few shillings.

Presently the book store man was joined by his niece, a pretty but painfully proper young woman with whom the budding artist immediately fell in love. Everything went along nicely until the young man went to France to spend the two months before his wedding making sketches.

There, of course, it happened. He met a pretty French girl, who was anything but painfully proper; and by the time his two months were up he had entirely forgotten his English sweetheart, and the wedding had to be called off, and he married the French girl instead—

And then, with a good deal of tenderness and insight, Mr. Gibbs tells you how the man unrooted himself, settled in France and devoted himself to his painting. I shant' spoil it for you by reciting how the story ends. Instead I advise you to read it for yourself—the book is worth your trouble.

HOOVER'S ARMS REDUCTION PLAN MEETS APPROVAL

Friendly Response Is Reported In Foreign Capitals

BULLETIN
Washington, June 23 (AP)—Insistence by the French government upon a security pact, reported in press dispatches from Geneva
concerning President Hoover's arms slash plan, brought the assertion today in high governmental quarters that the United States under no conditions would consider entering such an agreement.
President Hoover and his diplomatic advisers watched closely the reaction to the proposal for reducing the world's arms by one-third, at an estimated saving of around $15,000,000,000 in the next decade and a general tone of optimism prevailed.
Secretary Stimson said he believed the French government was "warming up to" the Hoover proposal. Little anxiety was expressed in the Capital over the attitude of Great Britain, Germany and Italy. The reaction of France and Japan was watched closely.
As word of the French reiteration of the need of a security pact reached the capital in newspaper reports, one high official let it be known that the American government had no intention of altering its policy of not joining such pacts
and agreements.
It was stated authoritatively
that President Hoover and Secretary Stimson had the French attitude toward such a plan in mind when the present armament reduction plan was formulated.

Geneva, Switzerland, June 23—(AP)—Avid discussion of the Hoover armament proposals for the present, American, French and British delegates to the disarmament conference today considered the French suggestion for reducing arms by cutting budgets.
The French explained their proposal further but refrained from mentioning any definite percentage figure for global arms cuts.
The Americans appeared not altogether pleased with the program proposed yesterday, but discussed during today's private talk. They are determined that it shall receive full consideration by the general conference if not in these informal conversations.
Hugh Gibson, who has been doing
a great deal of night work recently, did not attend today's meeting. Sir John Simon, also was absent, having gone back to London
to confer with his cabinet colleagues.

Washington, June 23 (AP)— Administration hopes were strong today that concrete results would come of President Hoover's sweeping proposal for a one-third cut in world armaments, despite the initial French coldness toward it.
The President and Secretary
Stimson were particularly cheered by direct reports to them, by trans-Atlantic telephone, from the American representatives in Geneva. These men, a far more optimistic construction on the reaction of the European powers than was reflected by the news dispatches
from the scene of the general disarmament conference and from the foreign capitals.

Ambassador Hugh Gibson, chief American delegate, informed them
the reception of the Hoover plan was enthusiastic, and that even that of French Minister Paul-Bon-cour was surprisingly friendly
when measured in the light of current French public opinion. He said also that Sir John Simon,
head of the British delegation, approved the plan and believed the nations represented could get together upon it to evolve a successful conclusion for the hitherto un-hopeful-appearing parley.
Nearly solid support from important spokesmen in the American Congress lent assurance that real difficulty was not going to be raised in the President's path at home.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Newspapers and officials in the principal European countries today greeted President Hoover's plan for general disarmament cuts, announced yesterday, with more or less favor.

The French papers, however, almost universally condemned it as
"demagogic" and as an electioneering scheme.

The widely read Petit Parisien of Paris said if it had been submitted
last February "together with the French constructive plan, it would have elicited only applause, but today it appears as a piece of extreme demagoguery and an electoral maneuver."

President Hoover might be forgiven for addressing "an electoral manifesto to Europe," Le Matin of Paris said, "but he can hardly be forgotten for forgetting that an international conference is held to

Here's to the boys who have done

Who answered their country's call

As they left the cities and left

And with serious thoughts of a

With true hearts went forward and

It was never a question of pay or

But to throttle the autocrat, power

Were the men who defended it

They gave little thought to the

As they ploughed right into the

The widely known political writer
Pertinax, in the Nationalist
Echo De Paris, said:

Germans Laud Proposal
"President Hoover seeks to impress the multitude by an elementary measure which the simplest can understand."

German newspapers, however,
lauded the proposal as courageous and hailed it as the most significant international step since the declaration of the one-year moratorium on reparations and debt payments last summer.

At Madrid, Premier Manuel Zana
said the proposal "dovetail with the Spanish republic's often-repeated desires for world peace."

The proposals created a sensation in the British press. The general attitude among the cabinet ministers remaining in London was that "anyway, things are moving."

George Lansbury, leader of the labor opposition lauded the Hoover proposals.

Flowers Stolen Off Thug's Grave

Chicago, June 22 (AP)—Expensive floral pieces of intricate design,
sent to George Barker's recent funeral by gangsters' friends and foes, were the objectives of four grave-robbers who invaded Mt.
Carmel cemetery last night and fought a gun battle with the caretaker.

The $10,000 bronze casket in which the labor racketeer was buried and jewelry on his body, were believed at first to have attracted the visitors. A dozen of the floral pieces later were found 50 yards from the grave and near where the robbers parked their truck. Police intricate wire frames. There were 400 of them.

Despoliation of the casket, sealed
in an air-tight cement vault, is next to impossible as derricks are needed to raise it and drills to open it.

Costume Pageant Features Launching of New Steamship

RECENTLY at the Federal Shipbuilding yards in Kearny,
N. J., the Grace super liner,
"Santa Paula," left the ways to an accompaniment of cheers, piercing whistles, whirling movie cameras,
and salutes from the Goodyear Airship "Resolute" which circled overhead. Less than three months before, President Hoover had pressed the button which launched the "Santa Rosa," first of four sister
ships under construction by Grace Line at a total cost of $20,000,000,
for service between New York, Central America and California.

Famous Characters Re-created
A unique feature of the Santa Paula launching was an elaborate costume pageant which re-created famous personalities of the dramatic clipper ship days. Characters represented in speaking roles were: Donald McKay, builder of the famous California clippers; William Aspin-
wall, founder of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and co-operator in the building of the Panama
Railroad; Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, who established the Aus-iliary Transit Company which competed for the California trade by transporting passengers and freight
to the Pacific Coast via Nicaragua;

and Moses H. Grinnell and Robert Minturn, owners of the "Flying Cloud" and other McKay clippers.
Kenneth Murchison of the Washington Bicentennial Commission directed the pageant which was enacted as if the launching were that of the "Sovereign of the Seas,"
one of Donald McKay's greatest clippers which was launched 80 years ago this June for the California trade. Each of the characters with speaking roles described the part his service played in the development of transportation to the Pacific Coast. As the crowning achievement of the work they inaugurated, the "Santa Paula"—suc-

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY

The quarter's lessons have taken us through the Book of Genesis—
from the story of earthly beginnings and the early history of Israel to the end of the first phase of Israel's history in the going down of the people to Egypt.
Through these lessons have been drawn from only one book of the Bible they have stretched and suggested great and important matters.

In the first lesson we have had a view of creation and of the origin of sin from the standpoint of a spiritual interpretation. In this the predominant thought has been the supremacy of the spirit, or life
at the center and source of all the universe; the thought of creation
as a movement from chaos to order; and the thought of man as inherently a part of all that is true and good, made in the image
and likeness of God.

No conception of man has been nobler than this linking of him
with all that is best, and in that literature for the art with which it has been told in its regard for high lights and effective contrasts.

We have seen the trickiness and wavering that were in Jacob breaking out afresh in some of his sons, especially in his dealings with Joseph; but we have been evidently refined by suffering an experience, and a man like Judah,
who had failed to save his brother from seeming disaster, under the influence of this new experience willing to sacrifice himself for his brethren and for his father's comfort.

The story and the lessons for the quarter have ended in the spectacular scene of Jacob's coming down to Egypt and his reception by Pharaoh.

The teaching of the lessons as they stand out from the quarter as a whole, are bold and unmistakable. They emphasize the nature and power of faith, the necessity and reality of character and in all human enterprise, and the broad truth that faithfulness and character bring their reward while sin brings results of evil and suffering
that are as sure and unmistakable.

This conception was later to be modified in the history of Israel,
as it was, in fact, modified in the history of Joseph.

In Joseph we see for a time the acute suffering of a man whose motives were true and pure, but we see in him what the Bible portrays in all its record of the suffering of the saints—namely, the true and ultimate triumph of right.

Report Of Deaths From Alcoholism

Washington, June 22 (AP)—The Census Bureau said today that deaths from alcoholism per 100,000 population decreased slightly between 1928 and 1930, the last year
for which figures are available.

In 1930 figures reveal the death rate from alcoholism was 3.5 per 100,000, including all states but Texas. In 1928 it was 3.7, and was 4.0

in 1927 and 1926. The rate in 1910 was 5.4. The highest rate since then was 5.9 in 1913, and the lowest 1.0 in 1920.
The figures are not based on the population of the entire country,
but on reports from states, in which at least 90 per cent of all deaths are registered. Figures for 1930 are based on reports from 47
states and the District of Columbia, but those for 1910 on reports of only 21 states and the district.

Lee Co. Farm Bureau Affairs

Thirty-five hundred County Farm Bureau leaders representing 95 organized counties in Illinois voted unanimously at Decatur, June 17
to hold a militant demonstration and parade in every county on July 4. They voted to invite all farmers as well as their neighbors in the towns and cities of the county to unite in a patriotic assembly dedicating their efforts toward restoring the economic independence of American agriculture, and with it
the prosperity of the nation.

The meeting held in the armory,
itself, was a demonstration of the determination of farmers to carry on a fight to restore farm prices to reasonable levels.

Commenting on the coming celebration which falls on the 26th anniversary of the Farm Bureau in Illinois, Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, said: "The state-wide assembly today agreed unanimously to bring about a coalition of the farmers and citizens of every community in Illinois on July 4 to make the day
ring with the spirit and courage
necessary to restore economic freedom, justice and independence."

"The nation is now stagnating in the grip of fear, frozen credit, debt, unemployment, and low prices, such as this generation has never before witnessed. The condition of agriculture, long out of balance with other industries, has resulted in these other groups toppling and falling to its economic level."

"It is now generally recognized that prosperity for America must begin on the farm. Higher farm prices must lead the way to recovery. The main essential is through organization and through organization alone can we speak loud enough to be heard and heeded. We must stand shoulder to shoulder on a sound basis and with militant determination move forward to the goal. The principles of fairness and justice for which our forefathers fought are in the balance."

Every effort will be made by the Farm Bureau authorities to cooperate in any other local plans that have been or will be made for the 4th of July celebration. The program contemplates the registration of every farmer in the morning.

County to Celebrate

The Lee County Committee is at the present time making plans for the large celebration on July 4th.
Arrangements have been made with Paul Rader, the Chicago Evangelist, who has the Assembly Park at Dixon under contract, to allow the Farm Bureau its use on July Fourth, according to word sent down by Leon J. Hart, President of the Farm Bureau. The County Committee is fast taking shape, and a meeting was held on Tuesday, June 21, at which time one of the men from the Illinois Agricultural Association presented to the Farm Bureau organization men, and men friendly to the interests of the Farm Bureau, the plans for the large celebration. Lee County is planning to do her just share in making this celebration a success.
The farmers of Illinois are planning to get together and make this one of the greatest gatherings ever held in the state.

"ALADDIN"

WHEN I was a beggarly boy
And lived in a cellar
I had not a friend nor a toy.
But I had Aladdin's
lamp.
When I could not sleep for the cold.

I had fire enough in my brain.
And builded, with roofs of gold,
My beautiful castles in Spain.

Since then I have toiled day and night.
I have money and power good store.
But I'd give all my lamps of silver
bright.
For the one that is mine no more.
Take, Fortune, whatever you choose:
You gave, and may snatch again.
I have nothing 'twould pain me to lose.
For I own no more castles in Spain!

WILL LENGTHEN FLOWER LIFE—

A pinch of salt placed in the water will preserve the freshness of flowers for a longer length of time than their natural life.

Valuable House- hold Suggestions

For inexpensive decorative foliage for your dining room, plant a row of grapefruit seeds, in a circle,
close to the center of a rounded
dish, filled with moistened earth.
Within a few days plant another circle an inch beyond the first seeds. Keep repeating this process until the dish is comfortably filled.
The resulting ferns will grow in a tapering, rounded effect that is more artistic than an even growth.

A sweet potato, placed in the neck of a bottle, will produce a vine that is attractive. Or a carrot or beet, from which the top has been cut, if placed squarely on the bottom of a dish, surrounded by an inch or so of water, will develop a luxurious fern.

If you want to entertain at bridge, but your pocketbooks hasn't enough extra coins to make it worth while, don't let that stop
you. Ask your friends to come early in the evening, and when they arrive serve them with a desert and coffee and then start your game. They won't mind eating the first few courses of their dinner at home. This type of party, known as a Dessert Bridge, has been growing in popularity.

If you are going to spend most of your vacation in the outdoors,
or motoring, you will be much more comfortable in a lightweight dress or suit of some material that doesn't wrinkle than in knickers.

HAS MATURE, YET LOVELY CHARM—

Lynn Fontanne, envied by practically every woman who sees her grace and beauty on the stage, is a living tribute to the charm maturity can have. She is listed in the World Almanac as being born in London, England, in 1882, making her 50 years old.

WOMAN SURGEON IS HONORED—

Dr. Estlin Ford Warner, from the state of Washington, has the honor of being the first woman ever appointed to be a surgeon in the Public Health Service. President
Hoover has just made the appointment. She will lecture and work for child health.

Bridal Gowns Are Simply Smart

Paris, June 22—The summer
bride should be the most bewitch-
ing. All the elements are in favor of a summer wedding. The sun is sue to shine, the flowers are at their best and even the bride herself will find that she has never looked so attractive as in the golden haze of a summer day.

There are all sorts of entrancing mediums, too, that can be used to fashion the summer wedding dress.
Sheer silk organdies, sheer chiffon and nylon and fine tulle suit the demure styles of today to perfection. For the country
what could be smarter than an all-cotton affair from the bridal dress
through that of the bridesmaids
and even the bride's mother?

Simplicity Is Important

A girl should study the style of her gown even if it is going to be a very quiet wedding. She must take advantage of all her good points, and remember that simplicity is the keynote of all weddings this year, even where the most formal gowns are concerned.

While all the leading couturiers
end their collection with a bride or two and their attendants, they never intend these to be taken as a definite bridal fashion. Of course, if the particular style they sponsor suits your type, but they usually find that an ordinary afternoon dress, modified for the occasion, is a wiser choice.

Many Gowns Are Severe

Bridal robes this season are almost monastic. Few short sleeves,
no low décolletés, no trimmings.
Simple lines, an intricate cut molding the bust and hips, perhaps a hint of classical drapery in the train, and that is all. The applies to sumptuous fabrics such as heavy crepes and satins. But for sheer materials, nervures, gathers, sheering and minute pin-tucking are used in all manner of clever ways
—but always very restrainedly.

The only fantasy allowed is in the veil and cap. Here again, a bride-to-be must study her silhouette carefully before deciding on any one style. The classical net veil gathered on either side of the head, bonnet shaped, and finished with two posies of flowers, suits some faces. The little skull cap of net worked into petals, with the same design outlining the edge of the veil as offered by Lanvin, is a little more formal but equally attractive on the right type of bride.

Then there is the diadem of orange flower buds, as created by Molyneux for an English actress,
which is also charming, but more difficult to wear. This particular wedding-gown designed by Molyneux was fashioned of pale velvet with plain, form-fitted bodice and long, fitted sleeves. The veil was also of chiffon and the bride carried a spray of orange blossom. It would look equally effective in white, or palest pink, if more becoming.

Veil Still Is Modish

There is also the real lace veil, usually a family treasure, that nothing can surpass in beauty and becomingness and there does not exist a girl who would hesitate to wear it.

A summer bridesmaid's dress offers tremendous possibilities too.
If the bride favors organdie, then the procession would be perfect if her attendants wore dresses of the same fabric in a delicate pastel color.

Lyolene suggests a white cotton,
beffrilled affair which afterwards
could do duty for a garden-party or even for informal dinner at the country club. She completes it by an amusing little sheer velvet wrap
and a huge picture hat of fine
white straw. The jacket and hat trimming are of the same red as the pattern on the dress.

Ladies of G. A. R. Met Monday Evening

The Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic met Monday evening in G. A. R. hall.

There was a good attendance of members and two comrades were present, Comrade Colburn and his brother, the latter visiting at the home of his brother, and niece, Miss Bjertson.

Splendid reports were given by the different chairmen and the memorial chairman reported that the graves of forty deceased were decorated the 16th of June. Two new members were initiated and three more ballotted on, giving evidence that the order is growing.

First delegate, Miss Dorothy Baker, gave a wonderful report of the convention held in Joliet, June 6-7-8-9. A great deal of thought and work was put in her report
and the order is very proud of Miss Baker and her splendid work.

Relief report was $12.00; Sunshine work quite extensive.

At this time the new department officer, Mrs. Florence Onnen, was elected to the front, and saluted.

Mrs. Onnen has the honor of being elected Department Registrar for this year. Refreshments were served to the members in honor of the June birthdays.

This little social hour is held each month for all members. After this the meeting closed to meet again July 6.

An ice cream and cake social will be held on the lawn at Miss Myrtle Bjertson's home in the near future.

Nine baseball writers from New York newspapers, who have been traveling with the Yankees, carry along a library, or keeper of the morgue. This walking encyclopedia is supposed to keep all the statistics on league leaders, home records and all that up to date so that he can rattle off an answer at any moment. It is a full time job for any one man to keep track of Babe Ruth's records alone not to mention the others.

OH, CERTAINLY—

The ultimate consumer must bear the government tax on all baseball admissions, just as he paid the war tax, says John Arnold Heydler, President of the National League.

"Our business has been spotty," says Heydler.

Okay, John, and so has ours.

JAPANESE ZEAL—

Japan will send the largest foreign representation to the Olympic games, 200 athletes. Japan subscribed $150,000 to defray the expenses of its team, and had no trouble raising the scratch.

Japan's zeal is better understood when it is explained that the United States Olympic committee has been digging for months in the effort to raise $350,000 to finance 400 athletes.

And, by the way, apparently Japanese athletes live more cheaply than the American variety.

HE'LL BE BACK

Jack Saltzaver, the expensive infielder farmed by the Yankees to Newark, will not be there very long. Jack is a splendid infielder, but was the victim of a batting slump from which he could not rally. The lad is a fighter and he will get it back at Newark.

Whiffy Cox scored 294 for second, Craig Wood scored 299 for third and Denny Shute, Henry Cuiel and Frank Walsh tied for fourth with 302.

Five Years Ago Today—Mrs. Molla Mallory, U. S. women's tennis

Decision To Do Sharkey No Good

Los Angeles, June 23—(AP)—Disapproval of the decision which transferred the heavyweight title from Max Baer to Jack Sharkey was expressed here by Jack Dempsey, former champion.

"As I get it," said Dempsey, who beat Sharkey in 1927, "Sharkey was pasted good. The verdict doesn't do him a bit of good and it does the German no harm. I believe Sharkey emerges more unpopular than ever. Not that it is his fault, but the experts seem to be unanimous in stating that the wrong man's hand was raised.

"I know better than to judge fights from radio description but when so many fight writers string with Schmeling, it looks like somebody booted one along the line.

SPIKED SHOES FORM BASIS OF FORMAL PROTEST

Terrors' Fielder Is Accused Of Violation Of Rules

After the Risley's Terrors piled up a score of 23 to 2 against the Dixon Firemen last evening before a huge crowd at the east end field, Manager "Lefty" Fordyce discovered that Willard Jones was wearing spiked shoes, contrary to the rules and regulations of the soft ball game. A forfeit was asked for and in the event this is disallowed it will be necessary to play the game over again on a neutral diamond.

Hofman lasted the entire nine innings for the Terrors and allowed but eleven hits, which backed by errors netted the fire fighters two runs. Neil Regan started pitching for the firemen but was driven from the mound and Ted Ryan went and finished the fray.

In the final inning the firemen attempted to stage a ninth inning rally and sent in "Soup" Holland, "Tubby" O'Malley and other veterans of the soft ball diamond to punch hit, but with no avail. The box score of the game was as follows:

JIMMY FOXF THREATENS TO SET NEW MARK

The Athletics' Slugger Is After Babe Ruth's Homer Record

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sport Writer
Jimmy Foxx, who a year or two ago wouldn't have been mentioned in the same breath with the great Babe Ruth as a distance hitter, threatens now to surpass anything Ruth ever has done in the matter of fashioning home runs.

With 28 four-baggers to his credit at this time, there seems good reason to believe the Athletics' star slugger will pass the Babe's record of 60 in 1927. Ruth did not get No. 28 until July 9, giving Foxx a leeway of more than two weeks in his assault on the mark that had been regarded as unbeatable.

The Babe who was hitting only 312 today, is seven homers behind Foxx.

Jimmy has not let his duel with the Babe interfere with other chores. He has found time to hit a sound 381 and to lead the American League in three other departments of batting.

Victor Frazier White Sox right-handed slugger (284) victim yesterday. It was not a game-winner, however, as Frazier went right on to beat three Philadelphia hurlers, 9 to 4.

Tigers Move Up

Detroit bounced into second place in the American League by making it three straight over Boston, 6 to 5, as the A's and Washington both lost to western rivals. Cleveland walked over the Senators, 11 to 2, for their first win over the Solons this year.

A ten-run rally in the sixth inning, when Danny MacFadden and Walt Brown were pummeled very freely, gave the St. Louis Browns a 17 to 10 decision over the New York Yanks. Lou Gehrig cracked a brace of home runs for the New Yorkers.

In an effort to get his New York Giants back on the right track, Bill Terry socked a home run, a double and two singles to help beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 1. Carl Hubbell limited the champions to two hits.

Rhem Beat Cubs

Flint Rhem pitched the Phillies to an 11 to 2 triumph over the league leading Chicago Cubs. It was Rhem's fourth straight success for the Phils. Three Chicago curvers gave up 15 hits, including Chuck Klein's 20th home run.

Cincinnati made it three out of four over the Boston Braves, 14 to 8. Bobby Brown, who started, and two other Boston flingers were pounded for 17 hits, four by Harvey Hendrick.

Although Hack Wilson punched two home runs, his 12th and 13th of the season, Brooklyn dropped its final to Pittsburgh, 7 to 6. Gus Suhr's triple, followed by Tony Piet's single, gave the Pirates the winning run in the seventh.

After the Ball Was Over

Probably on the theory that two racquets are better than one, Mrs. Helen Willis Moody (left) and Miss Sarah Palfrey both tried to make a return engagement with the ball when this striking picture was taken during Wightman Cup at Wimbledon, England. Though Mrs. Moody and Miss Palfrey lost this final doubles match to Miss Betty Nuthall and Mrs. Fearnley Whittingstall, America retained the trophy by defeating England four games to three.

on Wednesday evening of this week to Harlan McNett of Mt. Morris in Rochelle at the home of her grandfather, Rev. P. W. Nazarene who will perform the ceremony.

After a wedding trip through northern Wisconsin the young couple will return to Mt. Morris to reside in the Charles Eigenbrode home.

The auxiliary cleared a neat sum for this next Friday night and it has the distinction of winning the first prize in the district carpet rag contest. It also received a membership citation from the 13th district organization. Alice Taylor is president of the Lee Center unit.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Clink were Sunday dinner guests at the W. G. Lawrence home. Mr. Clink who has been ill and under the doctor's care is somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ross and son Richard attended services at the Presbyterian church in Ashton Sunday morning which were conducted by Dr. Frank Brewer of Sheffield. Dr. Brewer spent his boyhood days in Ashton. He is now resigning from the ministry to take up historical church work in which he will hold one of the highest offices. He will remove from Sheffield early in September to a home and office near Chicago. Dr. and Mrs. Brewer who are cousins of Mrs. Ross called at their home Sunday afternoon.

The Bradford Home Bureau will meet with Mrs. Frank Butler on Friday of this week.

Ogle Co. Farm Bureau Affairs

What farmers' organization can do as an emergency measure to bring about improvement in farm prices and start agriculture in the direction of prosperity was seriously discussed by the presidents and secretaries of the county farm bureaus in the first organization district of Illinois at the Pines State Park last Sunday. Counties represented at this picnic conference were Carroll, Whiteside, Lee, Ogle, DeKalb, Winnebago and McHenry.

President A. L. Goodenough, of the district organization, called upon C. E. Bamforth of Ogle, G. F. Tullock of Winnebago, and H. C. Vail of DuPage county, all of them directors of the Illinois Agricultural Association to present their views and lead in the discussion to work that might be done in this district to promote better farm conditions.

Ogle County was represented by newly elected President John E. Myers of Oregon, retiring President Frank B. Wilson of Woodstock and Secy-Treas. J. W. Robbins of Mt. Morris.

The chief recommendation of the conference was to give hearty support in every county to the militant demonstration on the fourth of July in each county seat as suggested by the I. A. A. arousing both city and countryside to see the possibilities in a larger and more general support of the Farm Bureau in its appeals now before Congress for emergency legislation and its program of cooperation in marketing and economical production of farm crops.

In accordance with this recommendation the Ogle County Farm Bureau will sponsor a "Dedication and Demonstration Day" at the Fair Grounds at Oregon on July 4th and other counties will do likewise.

PLAN CELEBRATION
A Fourth of July celebration which will be unusual and which will attract a county wide attendance from farm and city will be given at the Fair Grounds at Oregon on July 4 under the supervision of the Farm Bureau, according to C. E. Bamforth of Ogle, who has been chosen chairman of the general committee in charge of the event.

This project is in accord for a state wide program to hold dedication and demonstration days for the farmers of Illinois in every county of the state. Its purpose is to arouse the farmers of Illinois to their need of an organized stand to obtain their rights and to protect their interests. Its further purpose is that in dedicating themselves and their resources to bringing about better prices, fair profits and justice in taxation, that they at the same time make known to the world their demands.

The program of the day will include an address by an outstanding speaker and a parade in which will be set forth some of the principles for which the farm organization stands in its intensive work for better farm conditions, according to J. W. Robbins, chairman of publicity. Other farm organizations and business organizations will be invited to participate and the public will be invited to attend. No admission will be charged and it will be a free for all county picnic.

each family bringing their dinner.

Not only for a picnic but in a patriotic assembly to pledge their efforts to the national welfare, will the farmers and their town friends in response to this following proclamation issued by Earl C. Smith, President of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

PROCLAMATION
"Three thousand County Farm Bureau leaders in state-wide assembly have designated Monday, July 4, 1932 as a day when farmers and their friends in the town and cities of every community are urged to unite and rededicate their efforts in patriotic assembly toward restoring the economic independence of American agriculture and with it the prosperity of the nation."

"Let us all gather on that day in our respective counties to renew our faith in the land, to pledge our best efforts in bringing about an early improvement in farm prices and national welfare."

"The nation is now stagnating in the grip of fear, frozen credit, debt, unemployment, and low prices, such as this generation has never before witnessed. The condition of agriculture, long out of balance with other industries, has resulted in these other groups toppling and falling to its economic level."

"It is now generally recognized that prosperity for America must begin on the farm. Higher farm prices must lead the way to recovery. The main essential is thorough organization as through organization alone can we speak loud enough to be heard and heeded. We must stand shoulder to shoulder on a sound basis and with militant determination move forward to the goal. The principles of fairness and justice for which our forefathers fought are in the balance."

"Let's have a coalition of the farmers and citizens of every community in Illinois and make July 4 ring with the spirit and courage necessary to restore economic freedom, justice, and independence."

Marked Cards and Keen Memories Enable Sightless to Become Adept at Bridge

"Two tables of bridge" . . . for sightless players in the New York Association for the Blind

By NEA Service

New York — Marked cards and keen memories keep three tables of bridge going in the recreation room of the New York Association for the Blind.

The players are sightless, but they deal deftly, bid promptly and take tricks with no more deliberation than tournament veterans. It is a girls' club, with thirteen members, so they'll always be sure of six pairs, and they meet three times a week.

Subscribe for the Dixon Telegraph, the old and reliable paper that has been furnishing news to those living in this locality for 82 years.

They play contract, and follow the systems of the experts. The cards are in Braille, with raised markings in addition to the usual printed spots. Sometimes the score is kept on a Braille slate, but this is not necessary because every player keeps the totals in her memory.

Marked Cards
After the bidding, when the dummy hand is laid down, each of the thirteen cards is called off once and the three other players memorize them. The play is oral. East may say: "I am leading the ace of spades." Declarer: "Six of spades from dummy." West: "Playing the ten of spades." North, the declarer: "Discarding the three of diamonds."

And so on, through the thirteen tricks. Each player must remember the complete layout of cards, and there seldom is a dispute.

"We don't see anything remarkable about it," said one of the girls. "Braille cards don't permit kibitzing, so we have a chance to concentrate."

Forgotten Heroes

By Elmo Scott Watson

A Winner of the West

WHEN the French and Indian war ended, it was decided that English-speaking people and not French should rule the North American continent. But there was still one factor to take into consideration before that rule should be established—the red man, traditional ally of the French. True, the conspiracy of Pontiac had failed but he still "barred the way."

Six expeditions sent by the British to receive the surrender of the French posts in that country had been turned back—in some cases the envoys were stripped, beaten and threatened by drunken Indians. It looked as though the Englishman would have to fight again for what he had already won. Fortunately, however, General Gage, British commander in chief, heeded the recommendation of Colonel Bouquet that George Croghan, an English trader and Indian agent, be entrusted with the task of occupying the western country by negotiation.

So Gage supplied Croghan with more than $15,000 worth of gold, silver and presents for the tribes in the Illinois country and in January, 1763, he set out from Philadelphia in advance of his convoy of eighty pack horses. Soon after his arrival at Fort Pitt came the news that the unruly frontiersmen of Pennsylvania had attacked his convoy, seized all the presents, charged him with corrupt relations with the Indians and threatened his life if he ever returned. Undiscouraged by this, Croghan procured new presents by giving his personal note for them and once more set out.

A month later his party was attacked by hostile Indians and all of his followers, except two white men and three Indians, were either killed or wounded. "I, myself, was tomahawked," wrote Croghan back to Philadelphia, "but my skull being pretty thick, the hatchet would not enter, so you see a thick skull is of service on some occasions." Finally, after a series of mistreatments and forced marches in captivity, Croghan reached what is now Indiana and was finally set free. Pushing on into Illinois he at last was able to find Pontiac whom he won over by his diplomacy so that the great chief promised that he would no longer oppose British occupation of the West.

Inventor Seeks Secret of Philosopher's Stone

An inventor is said to be endeavoring in Paris to prove that he can make gold from sand. He claims that some time ago he produced ingots of gold from sand taken from the shores of the Mediterranean. Will he succeed now?

The search for an invention that will enable common substances to be turned into gold dates back to the early days of science. All through the Middle Ages alchemists were engaged in trying to discover the philosopher's stone which would enable this to be done.

Probably it is possible, for radium has shown us that one metal may change into another. In course of time, though, radium, now the world's most valuable metal, changes into dull, common lead. The process takes millions of years, and science knows no way of hastening it.

The Paris inventor states that he performs his miracle by means of ultra violet rays. A distinguished French scientist who watched earlier experiments describes how he saw metal slowly deposited upon a nickel plate; after a time this metal was treated by mercury, and a fraction of an ounce of pure gold was obtained.

LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY

VIVIAN BURNETT in all probability was never guilty of wearing a short-trousled, black velvet suit with a big white collar, and surely he detested long curls and wide brimmed hats with streamers as much as any of the numerous seven-year olds who did wear them. Nevertheless, it was Vivian Burnett who was responsible for this amazing juvenile fashion some years ago. For it was he who inspired his mother, Frances Hodgson Burnett, to write the book that set this style, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and the quaint ways, the sweetly candid eyes, the friendly, kind little heart that endeared its small hero to all readers, were Vivian's.

Mr. Burnett tells the story in this own book, "The Romantic Lady," a biography of his famous mother. "I shall write a book about an American boy with aristocratic English connections," Mrs. Burnett exclaimed one day, "and Vivian shall be he. Little Lord Something or other. What a pretty title! Little Lord—, what Lord—what?" A day later she had written on a slip of paper still preserved, "Little Lord Fauntleroy" ten times in a column, as though testing out its appearance and sound.

Nobody knows just why she chose Fauntleroy, though it is a common enough English name. Indeed, shortly after the book was published, one man, quite unknown to her, wrote Mrs. Burnett asking just why she had chosen his name!

Southern Wildcat

The ocelot, for all it looks like a smooth sleek pussy, is an almost untameable member of the cat family which ranges from Texas southward to Patagonia. The full-grown ocelot is a little larger than a house cat. It lives by preying upon small rodents and birds. The scientific name of ocelot is felis pardalis. In Mexico it is called the ocelot. The animal is of a yellowish or reddish gray color, shading off to white on the under parts, and thickly marked with elongated black-edged spots and blotches. A long time ago it ranged as far north as Arkansas, according to zoologists.

LEAP YEAR BRIEF

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan, leaves home and, taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her.

They are married and for the first time Cherry finds out what it means to lack money. Her struggles with housework are discouraging. DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome MAX PEARSON, who also works on the News.

Cherry receives a letter from her mother enclosing a check for $500. She returns the check because pride will not let her keep it. Dan undertakes to write a short story, becomes discouraged and leaves it unfinished. Two days later Cherry learns her mother is critically ill. She goes home but is not allowed to see MRS. DIXON. After a terrifying wait Cherry's father tells her the doctor is ready to see them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVI

CHERRY was on her feet now. The eager hope that had shone in her eyes vanished as quickly as it had appeared.

Her father remained in the doorway. Not so much as a muscle seemed to change in that relentless face.

"Dr. Knowles—?" Cherry began. "He's in the living room. We're to go there."

They went down the stairs, Cherry just a little ahead. She did not look at her father again. Through the doorway of the living room she saw the doctor standing before the fireplace.

There was a great bowl of roses on the table at the right. Cherry's mother had always kept flowers in that bowl, cutting and arranging them herself each morning. There was the basket where her mother kept the bit of sewing she liked to have handy for the hours before dinner. Nothing was changed and yet the whole room seemed empty now. Deserted.

Cherry rushed forward. "Oh, Dr. Knowles, tell me!" she cried. "I can't bear this waiting. I can't bear it! I've got to know!"

Dr. Knowles put an arm about the girl's shoulders. "There, there!" he said soothingly. "You promised me you'd be brave and have control of yourself. We're not discouraged. Not in the least. We're making the biggest fight we know how. You must help us!"

He had known Cherry almost since childhood, had seen her through the attack of chickenpox which, at 5, was her first illness. The girl buried her face in his shoulder. A moment later when she looked up she was dry-eyed.

Walter Dixon's deep voice broke in. He said crisply, "How is she, doctor?" Has there been any change?

The doctor nodded. "Mrs. Dixon has been resting," he said, "and rest is what she needs above all else. She slept for almost two hours this afternoon. She's awake now but we're hoping she'll drop off again before long."

He turned to Cherry. "Will you promise," he said firmly, "that if I let you see your mother for a few moments you won't become hysterical? Will you promise to go in quietly and say just a word or two and then leave?"

"Oh, yes, doctor—I promise!" "Well, then," Dr. Knowles considered, "I think it might be a good idea. Nothing must happen that could disturb her. You understand that? If she should suddenly become aroused—worried—any slight emotional disturbance just now would be dangerous. On the other hand I think she'd be pleased to know you're here. Well?"

"I'll do exactly as you say, doctor," Cherry said earnestly. "I'll—I'll be brave!"

The doctor looked across at the other man. "I think you'd better come too, Walter," he said quietly.

THE three mounted the stairs and walked down the hall to Mrs. Dixon's room. A nurse—not the one Cherry had seen before—opened the door in answer to the doctor's light knock.

"She's awake," the nurse whispered and stepped back for them to enter.

A single lamp, heavily shaded, gave the only light in the room. The shades at the windows had been drawn and the furniture showed only as dark outlines casting black shadows. Against the opposite wall, just out of the lamp-light, was the great white bed.

The face on the pillow looked as colorless as the pillow slip. A tired hair, drawn back severely, made the face seem old. One arm lay out over the covers.

It was Dr. Knowles who stepped forward. The tired eyes seemed to widen a trifle. "Someone to see you," he said quietly. "I'm only going to let her stay a few moments. Cherry—?"

The girl knelt at the bedside. Her two hands, so strong and young, clasped the mother's feeble one. "Mother! Oh, Mother!" Cherry breathed the words as though they were a prayer. Her head bowed down against the covers.

"Cherry!" It was the barest whisper but both men heard it. The girl lifted her head. There were tears in her eyes but she was smiling.

"Oh, Mother, dear, you're going to get well now in a hurry! You must."

A transformation seemed to have come over the mother's face. "My—little—girl," she whispered. But she was not looking at Cherry. Her eyes had raised. They turned toward Walter Dixon, lingered pleadingly.

"Walter," she said slowly.

The man bowed at the other side of the bed. He did not speak. Only the eyes that had seemed so grim, and unrelenting a few minutes before were veiled by a thin mist.

There was a moment of silence. Then, as though summoning supreme strength, the woman went on waveringly: "Walter—forgive—Cherry?"

Dixon's hand slid over the coverlet. It found his wife's. Then the heavier, darker fingers clasped Cherry's. It was one of those electric moments when the stillness seems alive with a thousand voices.

The man's words broke the spell. "It's all right, Alice," he said huskily. "Everything's going to be all right as soon as you're stronger." The nurse's starched uniform rustled in the background. Dr. Knowles stepped forward.

"You'll have to say 'good-night' now," he said with professional firmness. "It's time for Mrs. Dixon to be resting."

For an instant Cherry's lips brushed her mother's hand. She clung to the fingers, then slowly released them. "Good-night, Mother," she said softly as she rose. "I'll be here in the morning."

Dixon did not speak again. The two men and the girl filed out of the room.

IN the hall with the door closed behind them Dr. Knowles fumbled for his watch, found it and announced hurriedly, "Well, I'll have to be off. I'll telephone in an hour or two. Sleep is what she needs now. If she can get that it's a big gain. Good night, Cherry. Good night, Walter!"

The doctor's broad shoulders disappeared down the stairway. Cherry raised her eyes timidly to meet her father's. Suddenly the girl was in his arms, her face buried against his coat, and she was sobbing desperately.

He tried to quiet her. Cherry's shoulders rose and sank convulsively. "Don't!" Dixon said. "You mustn't cry this way. Your mother may hear you."

"It's—my—fault!" the girl moaned brokenly. "It's—my fault she's like this!"

Dixon's arm tightened about his daughter. "There's no use saying such things," he told her heavily. "Or thinking them. We've all made mistakes."

"I can't help it!" Cherry protested. "Oh, if anything should happen—!"

"Knowles says she has a chance. It all depends on these next few days."

The girl did not answer. Her sobbing continued less violently. Dixon patted her shoulders. It was as near a caress as Cherry could remember having received from her father.

"I think you'd better spend the night here," he told her. "The nurse will let us know if there's any change. Now, Cherry, you must pull yourself together—!"

She raised her head and the tremulous lips made an effort at steadiness. For an instant Cherry's eyes met her father's. Neither spoke but in that instant each understood the other.

DIXON went downstairs and Cherry returned to her bedroom. She saw that Sarah had laid out a dainty nightgown and dressing robe.

Cherry was swept by an impulse she had not known since childhood. She crossed the room, knelt at the side of the bed and pressing the palms of her two hands together, began to pray.

When Sarah entered 10 minutes later the girl was standing before the open window. Sarah carried a tray.

"You must eat something," she urged soothingly. "You know you can't make yourself sick."

"I don't want to eat," Cherry said wearily.

However she sat down in the big chair before which Sarah had drawn a small table and set down the tray. There was hot broth, a salad and Cherry ate more than she had expected to. Presently she pushed the tray away.

"I'll have to telephone," she said. "I'm going to stay here tonight."

She called the number of the apartment and after a time Dan answered. He said, yes, he had found her note. Was her mother any better? He hoped she would be soon. A few more words and the conversation was at an end.

Sarah bustled about getting the room ready for the night. There was the sound of water running in the bathtub and then Sarah saying, "Your bath, Miss Cherry."

The girl undressed and bathed mechanically. Before she got into bed the nurse tapped at the door. "Your mother's dropped asleep again," she said. "I thought you'd like to know."

"Does that mean—?" "It's a good sign. I've just talked to the doctor and he was pleased."

The nurse departed. Cherry turned out the light and slipped between the fresh linen sheets. The bed was as soft as down. There was no sound but the faint rustling of the trees outside the window. The breeze was fresh and comforting.

Cherry closed her eyes and tried to sleep but the silence of the house seemed ominous. She repeated the doctor's reassurances. "She must get well!" she told herself. "She's going to get well!"

But in spite of this insistence the girl did not sleep. She turned and tossed and finally gave up the effort to stare open-eyed at the ceiling.

She was still awake hours later when there came a knock at the door. It was the nurse again.

"Your mother," she explained hastily, "I think you'd better come!"

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

Chicago — Of all the objections heard in the gossip around Chicago to the renomination of Vice President Curtis, was the one that he was "too old" probably gave that bronze-faced Kansan the greatest amusement.

For around Washington no one ever thinks of Charlie Curtis as an old man. True, they know he is 72, that his hair is graying fast and all that. But as for his getting on in years, one just never gives it a thought.

He gets to his office now much earlier than do some of the senators and representatives. It's a familiar sight to see him winding through the tree-lined sidewalks "up the hill" to the capitol around 8 o'clock in the morning.

Probably not since the days of the late President Taft has there been a more enthusiastic devotee of walking for exercise than is Curtis.

RACE FAN—One is likely to encounter him almost anywhere. Frequently he wags from his hotel on Connecticut avenue to the capitol—a considerable distance. And on Sunday afternoon he'll start on a jaunt, usually by himself, that covers several miles.

No race track opens its season around Washington or Baltimore without the Vice President. He used to be a jockey himself and his love for the track is as great today as it ever was.

He gets a big kick out of everything. To see him in public one would never suspect that he was 72.

Besides the objection that 72 is too old for a man to hold down the vice presidency seems a bit curious when viewed in the light of history. There have been others just as old.

There was, for example, Allan Granberry Thurman. He was almost 75 when he was nominated for vice president with Cleveland in 1888. He lived until 1893.

And Henry G. Davis, nominated with Parker in 1904, was 81 years old at the time. He lived to be 93.

Over the body which Curtis presides long-life is, and has been no exceptional thing. There was Senator Morgan of Alabama who served in the senate for 30 years and died at the age of 93. Pettus his colleague, was called "too old" at 75, and he answered the taunt by running for the senate and was serving when he died at 86.

OTHERS ARE OLDER

In the present body there are senators older than Curtis. Tom Walsh of Montana is 73. Fletcher of Florida is 73. Kendrick of Wyoming is 75. Norris of Nebraska is 72. Fess of Ohio is 72. Smoot of Utah, dean of the senate, is 70.

Well might Curtis reply to his critics—"When you say I am too old, it merely indicates that I'll get much older."

PRE-NATAL X-RAYING

The effects of X-ray upon the pre-natal development of the offspring of humans and animals have been studied extensively by many scientists.

In 1903 Bohn demonstrated that by X-raying the eggs of the sea urchin he was able to produce abnormal development in the offspring. Similar studies were made on the eggs of worms.

In amphibians exposure to X-ray irradiation was found to result in the definite retardation of the development of the embryo.

The same kind of study was made upon birds and rats, both X-ray and radium being used.

In the experiments with the rats, it was found that prolonged exposure of the animal to either dium or X-ray resulted in injury to it unborn young, with the result that they were born dead, died shortly after birth or showed marked deformities of the brain and nervous system.

It was also observed that the earlier the irradiation by radium or employment of X-rays, the more destructive were the effects.

At times the results of such irradiations were not apparent at the birth of the offspring, but became evident subsequently in the stunted development of the young.

These studies have a definite bearing on humans, in that, not infrequently, a woman who is to become a mother, may require treatment with X-ray or radium.

Experience has shown that the use of either of these agents in the region of the womb during pregnancy is fraught with great danger to the unborn child.

The danger does not exist when one or a few X-ray pictures are taken at this time, because in these instances exposure to the X-rays are of very short duration, too short to affect the development of the child in any way.

PRISONERS LAMENT

Troy, N. Y.—Prisoners at the Watten county jail in Lake George have yelled for their rights. "It seems that the sheriff has housed a flock of game-cocks in the jail as evidence in a cock-fight arrest. Every morning at the break of dawn the cocks swell out their chests, take a deep breath and burst forth in the crows they are famous for. This, of course, interrupts the beauty slumbers of the prisoners, and they have protested to the Sheriff."
